NEWRY CORNER
Mrs. Hastings Dead—Sunday Visitors.

Mrs. Frances Hastings, widow of the late Harvey S. Hastings, passed away at her home at Newry Corner, Thursday, November 19th, after a critical illness of eight weeks duration. Although in failing health several months previous to her last sickness, she fought bravely and cheerfully onward until forced to give up.

Mrs. Hastings was born in Newry, April 2, 1852, the daughter of Agnes and Lawson Smith. She acquired her education in the public schools of her native town and on April 26, 1868, she married Harvey S. Hastings, who passed away October 1, 1930. To this union two children were born: Ethel, wife of Harry Gilman, who passed away October 5, 1925, and Grace, wife of M. E. Arsenault, who has always lived in Newry.

Besides the surviving daughter, there are five nephews, four nieces, several cousins and a host of friends who mourn her passing.

During her illness, she has been tenderly cared for by her daughter, who, with the assistance of Mrs. Bessie Seales Leonard, have given her every attention and comfort possible, sparing neither time nor strength in their efforts to administer to her every need.

Mrs. Hastings will be sadly missed from her home and community, she being a woman who united sound sense with strong convictions. She was a true, kind, hearty neighbor and a loving mother in her family circle. Her best monument will be the good report she has left behind her in the vicinity in which she has lived so long.

She was a member of Bear River Grange, members of which attended the funeral in a body. The funeral services were held from the late home, Monday afternoon, November 19th, Rev. Harvey Hoyt officiating. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, adding their mute but eloquent testimony to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Committal was in the family lot, Powers cemetery, Alton Bartlett, H. E. Harlowe, Henry Learned and Fred Wright acting as bearers.

An Armistice Day program will be presented at the town hall, Friday night, Grange meeting, November 21st.

Miss Hannah Harrington and Mrs. Mary Fuller were calling on relatives, Sunday.

Chester Small and daughter, of East Rockport, N. H., Mrs. Nellie Small Jordan of Portland, Warren Small and Mr. and Mrs. Rena Abbott of Rumford were in town last week to attend the funeral of Mrs. Frances Hastings.

Mrs. V. H. Bond entertained friends from Rumford, Sunday.

Mrs. Florence Thurston, Misses Ruby Thurston and Fannie Hastings were Sunday callers of Mrs. Grace Arsenault.

Guy McPherson is visiting in the home of his brother, Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boyker and daughters and Mrs. Bailey of Bethel were in town, Sunday.

WHAT IS LIFE?
By Harry G. Chase

What is Life, you ask my friends,
You who have traveled far and wide,
On ocean waves, or mount and glen,
And now do seek a warm fire-side.

Your youth has passed and years creep on
Ere long old age will on you dawn;
And memories dim of days gone by
Will then awake perhaps a sigh.

You have roamed afar in lonely lands
And trod the desert's hot and sandy
In northern climes you have gone afar
And at midnight sat to gaze on stars.

On shipwreck deck you have borne your part
And fought the flames with beating heart;
In Southern seas you have sailed
And have left a presence lingering there.

Life is what we make, my friend,
When we live, wherever we live,
By kindly deeds and pleasant words,
We make life happier here below.

Mrs. Levie McAllister, Bryant Pond, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Colby Ring.

Newton and Wilmer Bryant were at Clarence Ring's, Sunday, two days last week.

Will Cross, road commissioner, was in the neighborhood recently and erected a snow fence in Delphian Howe's field, near the guide board, which we hope will partly at least prevent some of the drifts on the road there. We think it could be extended toward the Howe house and help to take care of the deep snow between the turn and the house, where it fills in for some distance.

The snow storm of Sunday night gladdened the hearts of the hunters. One man was seen wearing an overcoat. Reason unknown. Might have been cold, or in a hurry.

Walter Imman of West Paris was a caller at A. M. Morrill's, Monday.

Mothers... Watch Children's COLDS

COMMON head colds often "settle" in throat and chest, where they may become dangerous. Don't take a chance—at the first sniffle rub on Children's Mucrolole once every hour for five hours.

Children's Mucrolole is just good old Mucrolole, you have known so long, in milder form.

This famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, and other ingredients brings relief naturally. Mucrolole gets action because it is a scientific "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain.

Keep full strength Mucrolole on hand, for adults and the milder Children's Mucrolole for little ones. All druggists.

EAST SWEDEN

Three inches of wet snow fell here during the night of Nov. 18th, and of course the deer hunters are out in force. At this time we do not know if any deer are being shot, but it seems as though they were being shot at, as we can hear the report of guns.

A. S. Kneeland of Falmouth visited his cousin, Ray H. Kneeland, last week and tried deer hunting for a day, but decided it was too noisy in the leaves and gave it up.

Ox Cart Load of Potatoes

On Way to President Hoover

Maine's potato crop is brought to the attention of the people of the United States in a most interesting and effective manner this week through the sending of an ox cart load of potatoes to President Hoover by Governor Wm. Tudor Gove and the potato growers of the State.

The cart, built nearly a century ago, has the wooden axles, high wheels and blue body, typical of ox-drawn conveyances of the early nineteenth century. It is drawn by a pair of beautiful Herefords from the Hawkes farm in Cumberland County. Leville Hawkes, driver of his father's prize winning oxen in several county fairs, handles the good stick.

Laden with carefully selected stock and displaying huge banners announcing the fact that the Maine potatoes should be going to the White House, the ox cart arrived in New York City on Monday. Pedestrians and motorists of the metropolis gazed in astonishment at the picturesque vehicle moving slowly down the line of swift motor traffic in the skyscraper-shaded streets. Many years have passed since an ox cart has been seen on the streets of New York and the scene created a sensation.

After leaving New York the ox cart is scheduled to appear in Philadelphia and Baltimore before its arrival in Washington. It will arrive into the White House grounds on Monday, November 22. President Hoover, it is expected, will appear to receive Maine's gift and to express his appreciation.

The sending of the presidential supply of potatoes from Maine was made possible through the generosity of the Potato Committee of the New England Shipper's Advisory Board, headed by A. J. Beck of Washburn. Arrangements for the ox cart trip were made in cooperation by the Maine Development Commission and the State Agricultural Department.

BRIDGEPORT HIGHLANDS

Farm Bureau Meeting—Library Society
Elected Officers—Circle Held Last Dance.

The Farm Bureau met on Tuesday at the Walker Memorial Hall. Mrs. Catherine Cushman was the leader. The subject was crayon painting, very enjoyable and educational. Then the work began, nearly everyone present painting a picture. As such painting on lunch sets, table runners, chair backs, shelves, Mrs. Cushman showed lantern curtain pulls made from spoons and button pulls, it is truly wonderful work. There were present: Mr. and Mrs. James Walker, chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth Ingalls, Mrs. Edna Sauter, Mrs. Abbie Wiggin, Miss Juliette and Hortense Chandler, Mrs. Pamela Wiggins, Mrs. Mary Sauter, Mrs. Ripley, Mrs. Fred Hanson, Mrs. Mabel Chadbourne, Mrs. Mary Clark, Mrs. Maud Lakin, Mrs. Catherine Carlson, Mrs. Sigmond Scheller, Mrs. Edna Cushman. The ladies on the Highlands served a real genuine New England boiled dinner and it's needless to say a most enjoyable time was had by all present. Those who were absent missed the time of their life.

The Bridge Library Society met Thursday evening at Mrs. Sarah Mead's home, the oldest member. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Edna Sauter; Vice President, Mrs. Edna Sauter; Secretary and Treasurer, Abbie Wiggin. Great plans were made and it's expected to have some of the latest books in the library the coming year.

Arthur Flint is extremely happy and rejoicing by the presence of his son, Leigh Flint, who is visiting him at present. To celebrate his homecoming, Leigh surprised his father, presenting him with a deer he shot on his way home.

Charles Wiggin and family entertained their cousins, last Sunday, Irving Barker and family, from New York City.

The Busy Bee Club met on November 14, at the home of Mrs. Forrest Abbott. A delightful lunch was served, and enjoyable time was had by all present. They will meet next week with Mrs. Addison Flint.

On Friday, November 13th, the Ridge Circle had their last dinner and dance for the year, at the Walker Memorial Hall. It was overcrowded with a jolly gathering. Much credit is due the hostesses, who had a larger attendance than ever, for being able to provide abundantly for all present. Mrs. Charles Wiggin, Mrs. Elden Drown, Mrs. James Fingert, entertained. Music was furnished by Jim Cole.

Thomas F. McGuire, Rockway Beach, New York, is a guest at the Ridge Circle for the balance of the month, being entertained by Sigmond Scheller and family.

WHEN WINTER COMES

ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION

will be even more necessary

SUMMER has gone, but the need for Electric Refrigeration is just as necessary.

Danger of frozen milk, butter, meats and other foods—personal danger of going from a warm room to a cold one is always present with "back porch" refrigeration.

Spring or Summer, Fall or Winter, Electric Refrigeration is a necessity, for only through a constant cold temperature of below 50 degrees can you prevent bacteria from starting its deadly work that endangers your family's health.

You need Electric Refrigeration for economy. Electricity is so cheap that it costs but a few cents a day.

For comfort and convenience you need Electric Refrigeration. Freedom from worry over food spoilage...the ability to go and come as you like with the assurance that when you return your food will be in perfect condition are certain only in Electric Refrigeration.

Central Maine Power Company

your local refrigerator dealer is a reliable merchant to advise you on the merits of Electric Refrigeration. Why not call at his store and look over his complete stock of new models—and while you are investigating Electric Refrigeration, we, too, cordially invite you to call and see our display. FATHER AND SON BANQUET

Arthur A. Heald, Maine Y. M. C. A. secretary, of Waterville, held the attention of more than one hundred men and boys at the Congregational vestry, Monday evening.

The occasion was a Father and Son Get-together under the auspices of the Men's Club of the church. A regular pep up session was held, commencing with a banquet and ending with indoor baseball between a team of sons struggling to out-dart their fathers.

Fun started at 6:30, when a long line formed in the auditorium and marched to places at the table in the dining room. A regular banquet served by the Ladies' Circle was complete from grapefruit, via chicken pie and the fixings, to pie with ice cream. Balloons for the boys created plenty of sport around the tables. Bouquets of pine with red berries and lighted candles made attractive centerpieces.

An orchestra comprising Miss Barbara Beale, piano; Miss Greta Merrill, violin; Howard Shaw, clarinet, and Clarence Huff, trumpet, played during the banquet under the leadership of Mr. Shaw. Ralph R. Butts, president of the Men's Club, was toastmaster and presented the song leader, Rev. R. H. Colby. A special song sheet was used, offering more or less lullabies set to popular tunes. The accompaniment was by the orchestra.

Walter L. Gray, Esq., spoke in a reminiscent vein from the subject, "When I Was a Boy."

John Colby recited a cheerful poem of Edgar Snow's version of a youngster's complaint about taking castor oil.

The musical team from West Paris, Matti Kahonen and John E. Brinkley, led the selections arranged for accordion-piano and violin.

Harry M. Shaw's remarks were based on the theme "What I Want My Boy to Be" and echoed the sentiments of every parent.

A recitation by Ted Chandler was another gem by Edgar Snow, telling about father's day in a touching manner.

Deacon Edward H. Woodbury emphasized the importance of the ideal home as a trainer for boys.

Charles H. George, 97, spy as the youngest, at the table, told about his youthful days and compared modern educational methods with meagre advantages when he was a little chap on a farm.

Arthur A. Heald was the principal speaker. He is an authority on the care and development of boys. He held the attention of his listeners with facts gleaned from years of personal work in juvenile courts, home investigations and kindred activities falling to him as state secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

More balloons were inflated and tossed around, then indoor baseball was enjoyed during the closing hour.

MRS. JOHN R. BRINKLEY

Mrs. John R. Brinkley, (Gertrude Juliette Brown), a summer resident at Paris Hill, died at her home in Wilmington, Delaware, November 12. She was the youngest child of the late Dr. Thomas Huntington Brown and Juliette Hammond Brown of Paris and was born on February 12th, 1855. The Hammond family has been identified with Paris from the earliest times. Mrs. Brinkley's grandfather owned large tracts of land and was a selectman. He surveyed and helped build the road to Snow's Falls.

Her father was a long prominent physician and became one of the founders of the Maine General Hospital, in Portland.

She was married on January 23, 1879, to Lieutenant-Colonel John R. Brinkley of the Fifth U. S. Artillery, then stationed at Ft. Barancas, Fla. She spent the first part of her married life in various army posts in Florida, California and Washington. When Lt. Col. Brinkley retired, they returned to his home city, Wilmington, Del. In 1899 they came back to Paris, living here five years.

After they returned to Delaware where Lt. Col. Brinkley died in 1910, Mrs. Brinkley since passed her summers in Paris. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Julia Brinkley Rodney and Miss Gertrude Brinkley, by a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Brown, and a brother, Colonel Edward T. Brown, of Paris, and three granddaughters. Her youngest child, Mrs. Leigh Zerbe, died before her.
